

Abstract of the Disclosure

In a method of fabricating local interconnection, a selective epitaxial growth seed layer pattern is formed on a region of a semiconductor substrate where a local 5 interconnection is to be formed. A selective epitaxial layer is formed by performing epitaxial growth on the resultant structure. The resistance of the selective epitaxial layer is reduced to complete the local interconnection.

J:\sam\0539\0539patapp2.doc